J., and Washington, had filed application in Beverly, Mass., for a license to wed Miss Frances Williams, daughter of Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams, U. S. A., of Washington. A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Bailey, which was decorated with palms and quantities of pink and white roses.

The bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her eldest brother, William H. Bailey, wore a graceful gown of white tulle and georgette crepe. Her veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a gift of the bridegroom, a lavalier of pearls.

Miss Edna Bailey was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a dainty gown of white tulle with trimmings of gold lace. She carried a bride's bouquet. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Fred A. Dodge.

The wedding was followed by an informal reception, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dodge left town for a trip to Boston by sea. They will also make a visit to Atlantic City before returning to Washington. NANCE O'NEIL WEDS HER LEADING MAN

Famous Emotional Actress Becomes Third Wife of Albert
Hickman, an Englishman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It has been learned that Miss Gertrude Lamson, who became the bride of Alfred Hickman, actor, Saturday, was Nance O'Neil, the actress.

That Miss O'Neil's name in private life was Gertrude Lamson had not been generally known, even her telephone at Bay Side, L. I., being in her stage name, but she admits she and Hickman were married Saturday in New Rochelle.

Broadway was not surprised at the news. The couple met five years ago, when both were members of the all-star company which David Belasco presented in "The Lily." Later they have been together during the last season of the O'Neil's leading man in the movies.

Miss O'Neil was born in Oakland, Cal., on October 8, 1874. Her greatest successes have been scored in emotional roles. This is Hickman's third marriage. He married Blanche Walsh in 1906, but the wedding did not become known until seven years later, when Miss Walsh obtained a divorce. He is an Englishman.

"Not Guilty" for War, Is the Kaiser's Plea

Believes History Will Clear Him of Responsibility
For Outbreak, Though It Will Not Hold Him Faultless.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—"I do not envy the man who has the responsibility of this war upon his conscience. I, at least, am not that man. I think history will clear me of that charge, although I do not suppose that history will hold me faultless."

Kaiser Wilhelm was today quoted in a Bernese, Switzerland, dispatch to the London Daily News as having made this statement to a prominent neutral who visited Berlin on business of an official character last year, and made another visit last month.

"In a sense, every civilized man in Europe," the Kaiser was further quoted as saying, "must have a share in the responsibility for this war, and the higher his position the heavier his responsibilities. I admit that, and yet claim that I acted throughout in good faith and strove hard for peace, even though war was inevitable."

The neutral was about to leave Berlin, when he and other members of a special deputation were invited to tea with the Kaiser and the Kaiser, who had just returned from the western front, the Bernese dispatch said. The Kaiser entered wearing a German field uniform, and after indulging in commonplaces about the weather turned to a discussion of the war. Somewhat to the embarrassment of the neutral visitors, he suddenly put the question:

"I suppose the British theory that I was responsible for the war has got a hold on your own people."

Before any of his guests could reply, the Kaiser added:

"It is curious how this theory seems to fascinate my enemies. Yet, the people who accuse me of having caused the war are the very people who previously testified to the earnestness of my desire for peace."

"Why is it that you neutrals always talk about German militarism and never about Russian militarism, the French craving for revenge or English treachery?"

Friends Laugh at Rescue Of Drowning Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—A sensational rescue from drowning, in which the leading roles were played by Miss Jewel Welch, twenty, and Harry A. Clark, engineer with the Royal Insurance Company, was staged in the waters of the Larkspur estuary.

Miss Welch, who with a party of friends, was making a visit on board a houseboat, attempted to swim from the boat to the shore, 500 feet. She reached shore in safety and then plunged into the water to swim back to the boat.

Suddenly she was caught by a strong undertow of the stream and disappeared from sight. Friends on the deck of the boat, knowing that Miss Welch was an expert swimmer, believed that she was "doing stunts."

She finally appeared above the surface and cried for help, beating the water wildly. Clark, who was standing on the deck fully clothed, plunged in and reached the spot just as she sank beneath the water. Clark dived and caught her by the hair.

Spectators on shore looked calmly on thinking it was a moving picture thriller. In a few minutes Clark had the girl on board the boat.

HOW I GOT RELIEF FROM CATARRH

Man Who Suffered Twenty Years and Was Almost Dead Finds Way to Be Quickly Rid of His Trouble.

By Thomas Walsh

How to Breathe the Air of Hyomei

"I have been a sufferer from Catarrh for over twenty years. I doctored off and on for fifteen years, but still, after all this doctoring and drugging I got no relief."

"Finally my ailment became so severe that I felt practically dead in one ear and almost so in the other. My wife got me a Hyomei outfit and I immediately began to use it according to directions and the results were remarkable. I have used another bottle of Hyomei and can truthfully say it is the first relief I have had in twenty years. This sounds like strong language, nevertheless it is the truth."

"I feel that there is nothing like Hyomei—a boon to the sufferer from Catarrh."

The oil of hyomei has long been recommended as being one of the very best treatments for Catarrh of nose or throat. It is not swallowed but the patient gets quick relief by pouring a few drops of the pure oil into a little hard rubber inhaler which comes with each large bottle of oil. Place the inhaler in the mouth as shown in illustration and just breathe naturally through the throat, lungs and air passages. The medicated air which the oil gives off. This is pleasant, so powerful that its germicidal qualities quickly destroy all catarrh germ life and soothe the sore, swollen, inflamed membranes, stopping the discharge and ending the disease.

O'Donnell Drug Store as well as other leading druggists in the city speak highly of Hyomei and state it is always sold by them with a positive guarantee to refund money if in any case of catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, cough or cold it fails to give prompt relief. In getting Hyomei for the first time be sure to get the large size, as it contains the inhaler as its use is quite essential for best results.—Adv.

NEAR-BEER VENDORS REGISTER PROTESTS

Want Revenue Tax Returned
When Business Is Closed
Today By Commissioners.

The District building was visited today by a number of Greek and Italian vendors of "near beer," the purpose of their visits being to ascertain why the sale of the beverage no longer is permitted.

They had paid $20 for an internal revenue license. True, the officials explained, but it was useful only as evidence of a violation of the excise law.

Such being the case, they wanted their money back. E. J. Hart, secretary of the Excise Board, referred them to D. J. Donovan, secretary to the Board of Commissioners, who suggested that they take their troubles to the Internal Revenue Bureau.

One excited protestant said a patron had informed his wife, who speaks little English, that unless he called at the District building a "bear" would be sent after him. Not clearly understanding the meaning of the threatened catastrophe, but wishing to avoid difficulty, he had lost no time in responding.

Mr. Hart also was at a loss until it dawned on him that the message probably was to the effect that a "bull" would call, such being the term used in certain circles to designate a policeman or detective. Assurances that he need fear the visit of neither bull nor bear, unless he violated the law, were given.

The Commission's decree prohibiting the sale of "near beer" without a liquor license went into effect today. Prosecutions will be directed against all violators.
